TECHNICAL OBJECT

with MARISABEL MARRATT

The technical object is seen as more-than simply a tool, more-than an externalized object, but rather as a dynamic of relations emerging at every given moment, according to the conditions of existence. This conversation will follow that dynamic of the more-than, in order to provide a background for an exploration of the technical object as intuited by the philosopher Gilbert Simondon, and then to track the validity of this thinking in our present-day architecture.

ELENI AXIOTI, from the AA School of Architecture, will join the conversation as a respondent.
